-- The MAILING DATE of this communication appears on the cover sheet with the correspondence address --

Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

- 1) ☒ Responsive to communication(s) filed on 21 February 2006.
- 2a) ☐ This action is FINAL. 2b) ☒ This action is non-final.
- 3) ☐ Since this application is in condition for allowance except for formal matters, prosecution as to the merits is closed in accordance with the practice under Ex parte Quayle, 1935 C.D. 11, 453 O.G. 213.

Disposition of Claims

DETAILED ACTION

1. In view of the Appeal Brief filed on 21-February-2006, PROSECUTION IS HEREBY REOPENED. A new ground of rejection is set forth below.

To avoid abandonment of the application, appellant must exercise one of the following two options:

(1) file a reply under 37 CFR 1.111 (if this Office action is non-final) or a reply under 37 CFR 1.113 (if this Office action is final); or,

(2) request reinstatement of the appeal.

If reinstatement of the appeal is requested, such request must be accompanied by a supplemental appeal brief, but no new amendments, affidavits (37 CFR 1.130, 1.131 or 1.132) or other evidence are permitted. See 37 CFR 1.193(b)(2).

2. Status of the claims: 1-5, 15, 19, and 21-26 are pending.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

3. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

4. Claims 1, and 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter.

Claims 1, and 4 are not statutory because they merely recite a number of computing steps without producing any tangible result and/or being limited to a practical application. Although, the preamble is directed to "using a computer", it constitutes an intended use recitation making it never actually have to take place. Therefore, the use of a computer has not been indicated. These claims do not indicate use of hardware on which the software runs to perform the steps recited in the body of the claim. Software or program can be stored on a medium and/or executed by a computer. In other words the software must be computer-readable. Preamble should be amended to recite “computer implemented method” or “A method for processing directory events implemented on a computer or by a computer or in a computer”.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

5. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

6. Claims 15, 19, and 21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as failing to set forth the subject matter which applicant(s) regard as their invention. Applicant’s language of “operable to” or “capable to” a computer to do something -in claims 15, 19, and 21 - is not prohibiting and does not cause any functionality to occur in the computer and thus failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim their invention (it's unclear what Applicant's intended metes and bounds of the claim are, since the claim appears to cover anything and everything that does not prohibit actions from occurring).

Claims should be amended to recite definite terms such as “configured to” or “that” or “is” or the present tense of the verb (i.e. storing, manipulating, assigning).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

Art Unit: 2165

7. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

8. Claims 1, 4, and 21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Elleson et al. (U.S. Patent No. 6,098,099).

As to claim 1, Elleson et al. discloses a method for processing directory events using a computer, comprising:

operating a directory service provider server to perform a data manipulation within a master directory database (See column 4, lines 49-54);

operating an event master server to assign a sequence number to said data manipulation (See column 7, lines 10-20, wherein “manipulation” reads on “update”); and operating said event master server to store said sequence number within said master directory database (See column 4, lines 1-11).

As to claim 4, Elleson et al. discloses a method for processing directory events, comprising:

operating a master database to replicate a data manipulation and a sequence number to a replicate directory database, said sequence number corresponding to an event notification (See column 5, lines 28-38); and operating said event service server to provide said event notification to an event client server in response to said replication of said sequence number to said replicate directory database (See column 6, lines 49-56).

As to claim 21, Ellessen et al. discloses a system comprising:

one or more directory service providers operable to manipulate data stored in at least one master directory database, each data manipulation assigned a sequence number by an event master server and each data manipulation replicated to at least one replicate directory database based on the assigned sequence number (See column 7, lines 10-20, wherein “manipulation” reads on “update”); and an event client server operable to notify at least one directory client based on the replication to each replicate directory database (See column 6, lines 49-61).

Allowable Subject Matter

9. Claims 2-3, 5, 22-26 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

10. Although no rejections in view of prior art are made with regards to claims 15, and 19, no claims in this application will be indicated as allowable until after a response to this action has been reviewed, as to the fact that certain changes may not produce allowable claims.

Response to Arguments

11. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-5, 15, 19, and 21-26 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

12. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

See PTO-form 892 for list of cited reference.
